White Away

Design by the young and contemporary Korean designer Soo-Mi Kang. The design is inspired by the idea of "White Away," which refers to the process of removing or taking away something. The design is simple and minimalistic, featuring a white, transparent canopy and a wooden base. The canopy is made of thin, delicate wood strips that create a delicate, airy look. The base is made of solid wood, providing stability and contrast to the light, airy canopy. The overall design is both functional and aesthetically pleasing, making it suitable for various environments.

New Mexico

Silent deformation and transformation of the material, in “New Mexico,” the designerному mixes materials and introduces elements to the design. The designer focuses on the interaction between materials, exploring the possibilities of combining different materials to create new forms. The design is characterized by its organic, fluid shapes and the use of unexpected materials. The designer uses a variety of materials, such as wood, metal, and glass, to create a unique and visually interesting design. The overall effect is a blend of traditional and contemporary elements, resulting in a design that is both familiar and新颖.

Dreamer

This is a dreamer who wears a dreamcatcher. Every piece of jewelry is unique, and can be made into an amulet or a charm. The jewelry in this collection is designed to be worn as a "dream catcher." The design is based on the belief that the wearer will dream catch and realize their dreams. The jewelry features various symbols and motifs that are believed to bring about positive energy and encourage dream-like experiences. The overall design is both beautiful and symbolic, making it a perfect gift for someone who loves to dream and believe in their dreams.

Crystallized Mirror

"Crystal" is the blend of traditional and modern design. The design of the mirror is inspired by the shapes of crystal, creating a unique and interesting form. The design features a combination of different materials to create a mirror that is both functional and visually appealing. The mirror is made of a combination of metal and glass, creating a reflective surface that is both clear and durable. The overall design is modern and contemporary, making it a perfect addition to any home or office.